CIRCULAR

Sub: Guidelines for approval of E&M Equipments / Engineering Goods in DJB.

Manufacturers keep approaching DJB for approval of their equipments / goods to be used in DJB. Earlier, a Committee under the convenership of CE(WW)-I was constituted for processing these requests and to make suitable recommendations. It is now felt that such requests be considered by the respective Chief Engineer, who may be handling the relevant products at a given time.

Though any norms and guidelines for such approval can not comprehensively be laid, yet it is expected that the usefulness of the product is duly established before recommending the product for approval. For establishing the usefulness of the products, it may be necessary to appreciate the following parameters:

1. Quality of manufacturer facilities including standardization of manufacturing process. ISO certification of such facility should necessarily be available. The quality of manufacturer facilities shall also include level of automation, power back-up and volume of production etc.

5. Past history of the manufacturer to ensure that the firm was never black-listed by any organization or defaulted in fulfilling the contractual obligations.
